Jessica concentrates her practice on complex litigation, representing individual, institutional, and corporate clients in a variety of contexts, including commercial fraud claims, commercial torts, securities and corporate governance litigation, False Claims Act cases, products liability litigation, and contract disputes. She is an experienced class action litigator, having prosecuted ERISA, securities, corporate governance, data breach, consumer fraud, and products liability class actions across a wide range of industries. Jessica also has experience litigating appeals in the Third Circuit, Pennsylvania Superior Court, and New Jersey Appellate Division.

Jessica graduated cum laude with a Bachelor of Arts from the University of Pittsburgh. She received her Juris Doctorate, cum laude, from the Temple University James E. Beasley School of Law, where she served as Managing Editor of the Temple International & Comparative Law Journal. Prior to joining the firm, Jessica served as clerk to the Honorable Karen L. Suter, J.A.D., Superior Court of New Jersey, Appellate Division.

Jessica is dedicated to pro bono work and volunteers her time with the Philadelphia Support Center for Child Advocates representing victims of child neglect and abuse.
